MACRO: CHINA'S ECONOMY RECOVERY

- ❖ Manufacturing PMI: contraction in US and Eurozone, expansion in China.
- ❖ Services PMI: contraction in US, expanding in Eurozone and China.
- ❖ BSC's assessment:
  - ✓ In the US, rising policy interest rate and persistent inflation puts pressure on consumer demand, affecting the manufacturing and service segments.
  - ✓ In Europe, inflation peaked but remains high. However, energy prices have cooled down and some governments have launched support packages for households and businesses to improve production and business activities.
  - ✓ China reopening in early January, the epidemic situation showing signs of peaking in December 2022, economic support packages being continuously launched, which helped production and business activities expand for the first time after 3 months.

MACRO: EMPLOYMENT SITUATION WEAKENED

❖ In January 2023, the number of newly established enterprises - 16.62% YoY; the number of enterprises returned to operation -21.20% YoY; the number of enterprises awaiting dissolution procedures -3.43% YoY. On the contrary, the number of enterprises temporarily ceased increased;

❖ Industrial labor use +0.23% YoY (manufacturing +0.2% YoY). The increase in the industrial labor use has been on a downward trend since September 2022.

❖ The decline in business activities in January mainly came from the two holidays accounting for about one third of the month. The sentiment before the Tet also contributed to the gloomy business activities in January

MACRO: CONSUMPTION INCREASED THANKS TO 2 HOLIDAYS

❖ In January, 2023, the total amount of goods and services sold reached VND 545 trillion, up +19.5% YoY. The travelling segment still had the strongest growth rate of more than 100%. In terms of MoM growth, the total +9.11% MoM, of which hospitality +32.09% MoM; travelling +35.34% MoM thanks to the two holidays.

❖ PMI in January 2023 reached 47.4 points, up from 46.4 in December 2022. New orders kept falling but at a slower rate, making output and employment more positive than last month. The bright spot is the number of new export orders increased. In addition, input costs increased sharply, causing manufacturers to slightly increase the selling price.

Accumulated retail and consumer services YoY%

IIP + PMI YoY%

- ❖ In January 2023, disbursement of state budget was estimated to increase by +3.17% YoY (equivalent to VND 27,026 billion, ~4% of the plan in 2023).

- ❖ In January 2023, realized FDI -16.25% YoY; newly registered FDI +210.6% YoY; additionally registered FDI -75.9% YoY.

- ❖ Investment activities in January focused mainly on the allocation of the capital. The newly allocated capital projects are in the process of completing the investment preparation procedures, so the volume of implementation is mainly at the transition works.

- ❖ Although realized and additionally registered FDI decreased, newly registered FDI increased sharply, showing that foreign investors continue to believe in Vietnam's investment environment.

MACRO: IMPORT-EXPORT GROWTH DECREASED SIGNIFICANTLY

❖ In January 2023, export -13.6% YoY, import -21.3% YoY. The trade surplus was estimated at 3.6 billion USD.

❖ Import-export growth rate decreased when the impact of tight monetary policies affected the consumption demand. At the same time, the Tet holiday at the end of January also caused import and export growth to decline over the same period.

❖ Two export-import scenarios in 2023:

➤ Negative: Export + 5.8% YoY and import +5.4% YoY

➤ Positive: Export +8.3% YoY and import +7.4% YoY.

MACRO: INFLATION HAS GROWN SIGNIFICANTLY

- ❖ CPI in January 2023 +4.89% YoY. CPI increased sharply mainly due to:
- ❖ Prices of essential consumer goods and services increased in line with the general trend.
- ❖ BSC holds a view that the CPI at end of 2023 is 3.5% in positive scenario and 5.1% in negative scenario. Main assumptions:
  - ✓ (1) The average price of Brent oil fluctuates around 80-100 USD/barrel.
  - ✓ (2) Price of pork traded in the region is from 60,000 – 80,000 VND/kg.
  - ✓ (3) Commodity prices peaked in the second quarter and cooled down at the end of 2023 thanks to the impact of tight monetary policy.

MACRO: INTERBANK INTEREST RATES INCREASED AGAIN

❖ The average interbank O/N interest rate was 5.65% in January. By the end of December, credit growth +14.5% YTD. Interbank interest rates increased again in January. Besides, T-bills saw a net injection of VND 90.1 trillion in January. The liquidity of the banking system is showing signs of narrowing as the capital demand in 2023 increases.

❖ Core CPI +5.21% YoY in January. Core CPI maintained a strong uptrend and surpassed the CPI. Rising core inflation is still putting pressure on SBV's monetary policy management.

MACRO: USD/VND EXCHANGE COOLING DOWN

- ❖ The value of the dollar has declined since November 2022 as inflation in the US has continuously cooled down. The FED has gradually reduced the level of monetary tightening.
- ❖ The value of VND continued to increase in January 2023.
- ❖ BSC's assessment: The value of VND is recovering. As of January 31st, 2023, the VND increased by 2.73% compared to the end of 2021, narrowing from a decrease of 9.17% at the end of September 2022.
- ❖ SBV started buying foreign currencies from 2023. In January alone, SBV bought USD 2.78 billion. Current foreign exchange reserves are estimated at $91.78 billion.

MARKET JANUARY 2023

VN-Index continued to recover

MARKET: FORECAST FOR FEBRUARY 2023

SCENARIO 1

Disbursement of public investment capital has been accelerated from the first months of 2023 in addition to optimistic signals when the Chinese economy recovered well after the strict control of the Covid-19 epidemic. Positive sentiment in the market continued to be maintained, especially the movements of foreign investors when the FED confirmed that the process of reducing inflation in the US had begun after many previous times of tightening monetary policy. However, the possibility of stopping interest rate hikes as well as policy reversal in 2023 was still left open. VN-Index is forecasted to fluctuate in the range of 1,130 -1,150 points.

SCENARIO 2

Profit-taking sentiment dominated the market following the gaining momentum that lasted since mid-November 2022, and this, combined with the cautious move of foreign investors resulting from the previous net buying process, could cause the index to enter a correcting span. China's economy has not clearly recovered, even though the Covid-19 epidemic has entered a phase of low-level infection and the number of new patients gradually decreasing. Furthermore, if negative news from the country emerges, the VN-Index may return to the previously established range of 1,030 - 1,050 points and lower thresholds.

Source: Tradingview, BSC Research

- ❖ Positive sentiment returned after the correction in December and the continued net buying of foreign investors helped VN-Index close to the threshold of 1,125 points. The closing phase of January 2023 when the market closed during the holiday season also made the market trade more cautiously, VN-Index ended at 1,111.18 points.
- ❖ VN-Index increased by 10.34% while HNX Index increased by 8.34% compared to December 2022. Ending January 2023, VN-Index returned to the recovery trend with an impressive rally when ending above 1,110 points – the peak in December 2022.
- ❖ P/E VN-Index ended January at 12.09 times, up 15.1% compared to December – this is a good recovery after the previous prolonged decline. P/E VN-Index ranked 3rd in Asia, while P/E HNX-Index was at 13.52 times – ranked 7th in the region.
- ❖ P/E VN-Index is forecasted to move in the range of 12.3-12.6 in a positive scenario when VN-Index returns to the range of 1,130 – 1,150 points.

MARKET: 11/11 TIER 1 SECTORS INCREASED

- ❖ Following the correction in December 2022, the market resumed a rising trend in the first month of 2023, as positive information and net buying by foreign investors were maintained. When compared to the preceding period, all tier 1 sectors increased.
- ❖ Oil and Gas, Materials, and Banking were the three best gainers with an increase of 19.97%, 15.22% and 13.24%, respectively.
- ❖ The Pharmaceutical and Medical sectors, Consumer services and Industry are the three groups with the lowest growth rate;
- ❖ There are 4/11 industry groups with P/E below the market P/E including Oil & Gas, Materials, Banking, Community utilities and 11/11 industries with P/B higher than the previous December.

MARKET: MARKET CAPITALIZATION OF 3 STOCK EXCHANGES REACHED VND 5.7 MILLION BILLION

- ❖ The market capitalization on three exchanges reached VND 5.7 quadrillion VND, representing a 9.2% increase, after a strong gain in January 2023 following a decline in December 2022. However, market capitalization fell 27% between March 31st, 2022 and March 31st, 2023, as the market remained in a downtrend that began in April 2022.
- ❖ Liquidity level in January 2023 tended to decrease compared to December 2022. Specifically, the average liquidity of 3 exchanges decreased by 24.8%, trading was less active before the holiday.
- ❖ The market traded in a narrow range for nine trading sessions before bouncing up since the middle of the month, creating good momentum towards target of breaking through the 1,100 point threshold.
- ❖ Average trading value in January 2023 on 3 exchanges reached 509 million USD/session. Starting February 2023, the market recorded a strong decline with high liquidity reaching 20,109 billion VND/session
- ❖ Liquidity is expected to fluctuate at 0.6-0.7 billion USD/session when VN-Index is heading to 1,130 - 1,150 range.

MARKET: FOREIGN INVESTORS CONTINUED TO NET BUY

- ❖ Foreign investors' net buying momentum continued in January, extending their three-month streak of net purchasing on the stock market in Vietnam. Foreign investors net bought 7,154 billion dong excluding the net selling value of EIB's strategic shareholders - the strong reversal of foreign investors in the prior time is a crucial driving force for the market to maintain the trend.
- ❖ In January 2023, foreign investors net bought 3,787 billion dong and recorded a net buying of 33,830 billion dong in the last 12 months.
- ❖ HPG, FUEVFNVD and SSI were focused on net buying the most by foreign investors, 1,407, 655 and 580 billion dong, respectively. On the other side, EIB, DGC and DPM were net sold with the largest value of 3,367, 243 and 137 billion dong, respectively.
- ❖ Foreign and domestic ETFs such as Fubon, Diamond, VNM, FTSE, E1... continued to maintain strong net buying momentum.
- ❖ In the first quarter of 2023, ETF VNM will complete the conversion of the reference index - whereby the Fund will invest 100% in stocks in the Vietnamese stock market - this may further increase the net buying momentum of the foreign investors

Foreign investors net bought VND 33,830 billion in 12 months accumulatively

Table: Net trading value of foreign investors on HOSE in January 2023

- ❖ The net buying momentum of foreign investors in the last 3 months has helped the market maintain a positive state, which is part of the motivation for domestic individual investors to return to trading in January 2023.
- ❖ The proportion of domestic individual investor transactions in January increased slightly to 80.1% while foreign institutional investors traded less actively compared to December at 11.9% - a slight decrease of 4.75% (MoM).
- ❖ Except for the group of domestic individual investors who traded actively again, the group of domestic and foreign institutional investors traded somewhat less positively, but still remained at a high level in the last 12 months.
- ❖ In January 2023, the futures contract saw a big decrease in the average trading volume/session but the open interest volume remained at a high level - reaching an average of 50,212 contracts/session.
- ❖ The trading volume in bq/session was VND28,217 billion – down 33.96% compared to December 2022, open interest (OI) decreased slightly by 3.17%. This shows that trading activities are not prioritized in the period when the market has not had too many strong fluctuations.

MARKET: CORPORATE BONDS ISSUANCE IN JANUARY 2023 DECREASED MASSIVELY

- ❖ Tháng 01 chỉ ghi nhận 04 trái phiếu được thông báo và phát hành, thời điểm gần kỳ nghỉ lễ bên cạnh các quy định vẫn chưa được cải thiện khiến giá trị và khối lượng phát hành giảm mạnh trong thời gian này.
- ❖ Tỷ lệ GD thành công trong tháng 11 chỉ đạt 10% với tổng giá trị 490 tỷ đồng - tỷ lệ thấp nhất trong 12 tháng gần nhất
- ❖ Thời gian đáo hạn bình quân trái phiếu phát hành trong T01 ở mức 8.4 năm cao hơn mức trung bình 12 tháng gần nhất là 5.2 năm;
- ❖ Hoạt động phát hành TPDN T01 sụt giảm đáng kể khi thị trường tiếp tục ảm đạm, tâm lý thận trọng, tiêu cực vẫn hiện hữu trong thời gian chờ đợi cơ quan quản lý tháo gỡ khó khăn, điều chỉnh chính sách
- ❖ Trong T02, Bộ Tài Chính sẽ dự kiến trình dự thảo sửa đổi Nghị định 65 để Chính phủ xem xét phê duyệt, nếu được thông qua đây sẽ là tiền đề để thị trường TPDN Doanh nghiệp hồi phục.

FACTORS AFFECTING MARKET IN FEBRUARY 2023

Event

- ❖ Public investment continued to be promoted. In addition, the deposit interest rate is maintained at a reasonable level to ensure a suitable lending interest rate. On the other hand, the 2% interest rate support policy under Resolution 43 is expected to be implemented in a practical and highly effective manner to support businesses in 2023.
- ❖ The Government issued Directive No. 03/CT-TTg dated January 27, 2023, which requested the Ministry of Finance to urgently submit a draft Decree on corporate bonds and the State Bank to remove difficulties in providing credit for the real estate sector...
- ❖ The State Bank is drafting a proposal to amend and supplement articles of the Law on Credit Institutions, Decree 01/2014/ND-CP on which banks that receive compulsory transfer of weak credit institutions can have their ownership (room) of foreign investors extended from 30% to 49%.
- ❖ Movement of cash flow from foreign investors and ETFs to the period of restructuring and adjusting the portfolio
- ❖ The Chinese economy began to show positive signals when the Covid-19 epidemic situation entered a low-level infection phase with the number of new cases gradually decreasing as well as the optimism of the IMF on world economic growth in 2023 with the main driving force coming from China
- ❖ After the FOMC meeting at the beginning of February 2022, the FED confirmed that the process of reducing inflation in the US had begun. However, the end time to stop raising interest rates was left open. The Fed is expected to increase +25bps in March 2023.
- ❖ The geopolitical conflict between Russia and Ukraine continued to drag on and entered a new phase when the United States and Western countries agreed to provide financial support and military weapons to Ukraine.

Impact on stock market

- ❖ Positive
- ❖ Impact on corporate bond market and real estate sector and related industry groups
- ❖ Impact on financial and banking groups. Ensuring operational safety and sustainable development of the credit institution system
- ❖ Impact on liquidity and trends
- ❖ The global supply chain now is smooth again and, acting as a catalyst for economic growth. Investor confidence is strengthened.
- ❖ Impact on operating policies of central banks and foreign investors' cash flow
- ❖ Causing solicitude, affecting security and safety in the region and the world.

INVESTMENT STRATEGIES IN FEBRUARY 2023

The Fed's ambiguous statement about stop raising interest rates in 2023 and the confirmation that deflation has started in the US indicate that the high interest rate environment will persist, but this is a crucial foundation. In future, the State Bank must manage monetary policy with flexibility. The State Bank has also added a sizeable amount of foreign currency to the national reserve, which will provide a basis and room for the Government to better support businesses. Additionally, the pressure on exchange rate management has been reduced as the remittances to Vietnam recorded a record level of nearly 19 billion USD in 2022 - Top 10 largest remittance receiving countries in the world. In light of this, BSC suggests promising and potential industry groups, such as:

(1) Stocks related to public investment (2) Stocks that benefit when China reopens (3) Stocks with positive outlook in high interest rate environment

On the other hand, investors need to follow closely the cash flow movements of foreign investors, large ETFs as well as notable domestic and international developments and events to adjust their strategies accordingly.
